The Little Engine That Could is an illustrated children's book that was first published in the United States in 1930 by Platt & Munk. A stranded train is unable to find an engine willing to take it on over difficult terrain to its destination. Only a little blue engine is willing to try and, while repeating the mantra "I think I can, I think I can", overcomes a seemingly impossible task. Based on a 2007 online poll, the National Education Association named the book one of its "Teachers' Top 100 Books for Children".

Although he is not very big, the Little Blue Engine agrees to try to pull a stranded train full of toys over the mountain.
